About the Author

Candice Ransom used to ride on her stepfather's tractor. She loved trips in their green pickup, and she thinks old cars are the best. When she isn't writing books for children, she is driving on the back roads of Virginia in her own little red truck.

FLYING TRUCKS

Two monster trucks line up to race. Engines roar as the drivers steer around old cars. One truck drives right over the cars. The other truck gets stuck and loses.

Monster trucks jump over rows of old cars.

Many monster trucks are named after popular characters.

Now it's time for the freestyle event. Each truck has 90 seconds to perform stunts. A monster truck crushes a row of cars like bugs. Then the truck stands up on its two back tires. Now the truck slams down on four wheels. It speeds toward the smashed cars. The truck hits the dirt ramp and soars over all the cars.

People in the arena leap to their feet. Monster trucks are fun to watch!
