

The Nesting Sisters

by Wen Fang Cao

Copyright © 2020 by Urban Sandbox, LLC

Original Chinese Version published in October 2016 by Beijing
Children's Publishing House and Beijing Publishing Group

Translated by Urban Sandbox, LLC

All rights reserved. Printed in the U.S.A.

No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without permission in writing of Urban Sandbox, LLC

Quantity Purchases:

Companies, professional groups, clubs, and other organizations may qualify for special terms when ordering quantities of this title.

For information, email info@ebooks2go.net, or call (847) 598-1150 ext. 4141.

www.ebooks2go.net

Published by eBooks2go, Inc.
1827 Walden Office Square, Suite 260, Schaumburg, IL 60173
eBook ISBN: 978-1-7354184-1-4

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication

The outside world is wonderful.
The memories of a hometown are sweet.
The embrace from family is warm.
In every gain, there is a loss.
This is a magical story about growing up.

Danni was a little girl who was very good at dancing. She went to Russia to study Ballet. Before Danni returned home, she saw a beautiful set of nesting dolls on the street and decided to buy them. Danni brought them home and displayed them on her bookshelf.

The nesting dolls were made of wood. They had blue eyes and golden blonde hair. There were 15 sisters in the doll set.

The 15 sisters looked identical. Each one was just small enough to nest inside her next eldest sister until the only sister that you could see was the largest and eldest sister.

Danni liked to take all the sisters out. She would line them up on her desk and dance for them. Danni would create her own dances and arrange the sisters into various formations. The sisters, tall and short, were all organized into many beautiful displays.

You've Just Finished your Free Sample

Enjoyed the preview?

Buy: <http://www.ebooks2go.com>