

50 WAYS TO MAKE HIM LOVE YOU MORE

BOOK 3: Don't ask him to forsake his passions and hobbies x 10

Introduction

Whereas it can make life interesting to be in a relationship with a man who is so deeply engaged with their hobbies, this can quickly become challenging for you. Despite all this, you shouldn't ask your man to forsake his hobbies and passions.

What you should do when hobbies and passions over consume your man

After the honeymoon period has elapsed, you may discover that your spouse starts to gradually move toward his favorite hobbies and passions and end up spending more time engaging in hobbies and passions than with you.

So, if your spouse's hobbies or passions have stolen him from your relationship, it may be time to address the issue at hand and set some boundaries.

Here below are some of the things you should do when your spouse is overly excited about his passions and hobbies;

Approach him about his all-consuming hobbies

First, be empathetic and respect your man's decision to concentrate on his hobbies and passions. Even if you are feeling upset, it's vital to approach him with care. Chances are high that he may want to have a healthy relationship with you. This is why you should air out your concerns to him more lovingly concerning what you need.

When approaching your man, tell him; "I love you so much and I love your hobby as well, and I would never request you to forsake it. But, it's almost like you are absent in our relationship because your hobby is draining all your good energy."

Allow your spouse to understand that his obsession with his hobbies and passions is starting to ruin your relationship. Tell him that whereas you want him to continue enjoying his interests, you are going to require more focused time with him and the relationship.

Instead of just complaining about his attitude, brainstorm with trusted third parties about some great suggestions before approaching your man. Ask your man to spare a night or two each week for some time with you. You could spend time together on a date night, a movie night, or something similar.

Sparing only a night or two will make him feel like you are not blocking him from pursuing his hobbies and interests. He will also understand that you want a healthy relationship for both of you.

Once you do this, you will be free to feel more enthusiastic about your man's hobbies and passions because you'll feel like there's a part of him reserved for you.

Take time for yourself

Now that your man has agreed to set aside some time to spend with you, it's time for you to decide how to spend your free time as your spouse is pursuing his hobbies and interests. When he has any activity to pursue, schedule some fun time with your workmates, friends, and family.

In whatever you do, give yourself something to look forward to! Don't allow yourself to get bogged down and angry over a list of things that your man isn't doing while engaging in their passions and hobbies.

Fuming about your man spending time pursuing his hobby won't do you any good. Relax and find ways to enjoy yourself instead. Who knows – When you also engage in activities you desire, your man may start missing your presence.
