Does a seed ball have to be round? Because mine is a mess of dirt and clay, with seeds falling out.

Ms. Alvarez says that because each seed ball has its own soil, we can throw them onto open ground and make "wild food" grow in unexpected places. It's part of our class project on the food system. We're looking at how our community gets food, uses it, sells it, and more.

I'm grouped with Sacha and Izaak. I haven't hung out with them much. Still, we plan to meet Saturday and plant our seeds.

¿Las bolas de semillas tienen que ser redondas? Porque la mía es un amasijo de tierra y arcilla con semillas que se caen por todos los costados.

La maestra Álvarez dice que, como cada bola de semillas tiene su propia tierra, podemos lanzarlas en suelo abierto y hacer que crezcan "alimentos silvestres" en lugares inesperados. Las bolas de semillas forman parte del proyecto de la clase sobre el sistema alimentario. Estamos estudiando cómo obtiene alimentos nuestra comunidad, cómo los usa, cómo los vende y mucho más.

Estoy en un grupo con Izaak y Sacha. No suelo juntarme mucho con ellos. De todos modos, planeamos reunirnos el sábado para plantar nuestras semillas.
