The Prince and the Sphinx

Story Summary

Once, long ago, there was a prince in Egypt named Thutmose. He was the favorite son of Pharaoh Amenhotep, so his many brothers and half-brothers would often plot against him. Prince Menes and his wife, Princess Neferu, were especially eager to take the throne and put a lot of effort into doing away with the pharaoh's favorite! Poor Prince Thutmose didn't like all the nastiness. Sometimes he would sneak away from court to go hunting with his favorite servant, Ako. Sometimes they would have adventures! Once, they even found a buried god. . .

Tips for Performing Reader's Theater

Adapted from Aaron Shepard

- Don't let your script hide your face. If you can't see the audience, your script is too high.
- Look up often when you speak. Don't just look at your script.
- Talk slowly so the audience knows what you are saying.
- Talk loudly so everyone can hear you.
- Talk with feelings. If the character is sad, let your voice be sad. If the character is surprised, let your voice be surprised.
- Stand up straight. Keep your hands and feet still.
- Remember that even when you are not talking, you are still your character.
- Narrator, be sure to give the characters enough time for their lines.
